

Gains. Why RALGRO® implants are making news in feedlot trials!

A recent independent study of finishing steers, sponsored by the makers of RALGRO and the makers of Synovex® implants, now represents the largest, most comprehensive cattle implant trial on record. Research showed cattle implanted with RALGRO first, then reimplanted with RALGRO, to have gained more with greater feed efficiency than any of the other implant combinations tested. In fact, the RALGRO/RALGRO combination's total gain in pounds per head was 12 pounds greater than the Synovex/Synovex implant combination. The RALGRO combination also had better feed efficiency over control animals as compared to the Synovex combination.

Impressive results like these confirm what other studies have shown—RALGRO is the cattle implant of choice for finishing cattle! Contact your RALGRO representative for more information. Or write or call RALGRO, P.O. Box 207, Terre Haute, IN 47808; phone 1-800-457-0871.

WHEN IS INFORMATION INFORMATION . . .

If there is any one thing that our Grate Society has in abundance it has to be what we amilingly refer to as statistics & data, etc. This vast amount of information is stuffed in computers everywhere and not a man alive has any more than a vague notion as to how much there really is stored in memory banks lither & yon.

There is an old sayin' that figgers don't lie, but that liars can figger, and this goes to show you just far afield we can get any time we try to figger somethin' out. This is th' real reason that th' folks we refer to smilingly as Experts and Analysts, and Authorities on given subjects have so much explainin' to do after they come out with their original prognostications.

Elsewhere on this page you will see some of th' fruits of th' mountains of information with which a single department

Fed Cattle Sag, Hogs Sharply Off At Markets Monday

Trading in fed steers and heifers opened slow and lower and the weakness was more pronounced by the time a clearance was accomplished at the central markets on Monday. The program was much the same as it has been most recent weeks as the carcass beef trade opened slow and $1 to $2 lower on very limited activity. It was noteworthy that these markets have begun reporting somewhat larger numbers of yield-grade 4 steers and heifers coming in, these being shown in the low end of the choice and prime prices. Slaughter cows and bulls showed little change at most markets. The

Questions Raised on Quality of Grain In Long Storage

Texas political leaders continued to put pressure on Secy. of Agriculture Block to release supplies of government grain in storage, and alleged to be out of, or going out of condition, for drought feed relief. However, in recent days animal and poultry nutritionists have been raising warning flags concerning the use of some of the grain that is out of condition, and have pointed out dangers involved in feeding it.

As is noted in the grain storage report elsewhere on this page a tremendous volume of this grain is in on-farm storage. There have been earlier reports that insect infestations have been heavy in some of this grain, as well as the possibility it is moldy or has become unsafe because of mycotoxins which can make it dangerous to feed to livestock or poultry. Some of the grain has reportedly been in storage as long as two to five years and due to heat and humidity has lost much of its nutritional value, as well as having become infested and poisonous. Recently there have been complaints about the quality of the grain awarded to grain farmers in the PIK program. While there are provisions in the PIK program to give larger amounts of lower grade grains, where quality is below specifications, some charges have been made that even so the grain producer is not getting as much money when he sells as he was entitled to receive.

Texas Ag Commissioner Jim Hightower recently had tests run on some of the grain in storage, and reported a far higher degree of deterioration than had previously been reported. It was reported last week that Secretary Block had ordered new tests on CCC grain stocks, but no report has been forthcoming yet. Poultry feeders have been warned that some of the older grain may discolor broilers and egg yolks. In the case of

RRC Chairman Asks President for National Energy Conference

mision's monthly statewide oil and gas hearing.

Comparing the nation's present energy situation to the crisis generated by the Arab oil embargo of 1973, Wallace told the president "I believe we are in an equal - if not worse - situation today." According to Wallace, repeated references to "oil glut" and "natural gas bubbles" have deluded the public and the government hasn't realized the seriousness of the situation.

"The fact of the matter is," said Wallace, "at this very moment we do not have enough oil and gas for our own national security."

Highlighting the weaknesses in the U.S. energy posture, Wallace noted that the 850 million barrels of oil in the Strategic Petroleum Reserve would only last 10 weeks if foreign supplies were shut off. He also pointed out that although the U.S. has a 35-day supply of gasoline now, disruption in deliveries and spot shortages would crop up as little as three days after a foreign cutoff.

Wallace said Americans can take little comfort from widely-reported import reductions, since preliminary August figures show imports have risen to six million barrels a day. That is only slightly below the 6.2 million barrels a day imported at the time of the 1973 embargo.

Texas oil production, some 30 percent of the U.S. total, has declined almost a million barrels a day from the 1973 level, Wallace told the president. Wallace said that although the nation's situation in oil is marginal, its posture on natural gas is much worse. The temporary oversupply could be exhausted by 1985, he said, noting that according to a recent study "more than 40 percent of this nation's future gas demand must be supplied by wells which have not yet even been drilled."

Wallace called the failure of Congress to remove gas regulatory shackles and settle political conflicts "a national disgrace."

Much of Wallace's criticism was reserved for the administration's decision to abandon the goal of energy self-sufficiency, a move he called "a mistake with far-reaching consequences."

"It is the same type of mistake made by President Eisenhower when he vetoed legislation which would have freed the interstate natural gas market from court-ordered controls," Wallace said. "It is the same type of mistake made by President Nixon when he implemented federal price controls, and then removed them from everything but crude oil."

Wallace called for the president to convene a bipartisan national energy conference composed of key congressional leaders, federal energy officials, and representatives from energy producing states, the consuming public, and major oil companies and independent producers. He said the conference would outline the steps that must be taken to help secure America's energy future.

"A national consensus must be formulated and decisive action taken," Wallace concluded. "Our children are entitled to a future based on promise and opportunity, not regret and recrimination."

Priefert
Hay Dolly

No winches
No hydraulics

The Priefert Hay Dolly hooks to your pickup or tractor with only a simple pin hitch and trip rope. Because brakes animal feeding, some of the grain can cause reproductive problems, unsatisfactory gains and even animal deaths if it is moldy or contains mycotoxins.

Questions Raised on Quality of Grain in Long Storage

Veteran grain trade people say the situation at this time is the worst they have ever encountered due to the long time the grains have been stored and the hot and humid conditions that accelerated the decline in quality. Manufacturers of grain fumigants report sales have been booming for their products to use on farm stored grains. Sales have been reported up during the past year by from 15% to as high as 35% to 40%, for fumigants.

Grain experts say that bad grain requires very special handling and unless precautions are exercised could, in some cases, bankrupt the feeders of livestock and poultry.

Texas Senator Lloyd Bentsen urged last week that Secretary of Agriculture

John Block look into an apparently sharp decline in the quality of grain stored in the government and stored in the Texas Panhandle.

"I am concerned by indications the grain owned by the Commodity Credit Corporation and stored in the Texas Panhandle area may be of substantially lower quality than that listed on the Commodity Credit Corporation's inventory," Bentsen said in a letter to Block.

"When Texas Department of Agriculture staff recently sampled one West Texas elevator, 65 percent of the 21 million bushels stored there were grade 1, 2 and 3 - the lowest possible grade."

"In an earlier telephone inquiry to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, I had been advised that current U.S.D.A. inventories show that less than one percent of the Commodity Credit Corporation-owned corn in this elevator should be Sample grade. In fact, according to the current inventory, 65 percent of the corn should be grades 1, 2 and 3 - the lowest grade."

"The apparent discrepancies about the Texas Department of Agriculture samples seem too large to be accounted for normally."

"I would appreciate your looking into this situation. What are U.S.D.A. plans regarding the frequency of inspection of the Commodity Credit Corporation-owned grain stored in the Texas Panhandle, and if any, quality deterioration has been found, what has been done to correct such problem?"

"It is my understanding that the warehouse receipt held by the Commodity Credit Corporation represents a commitment by an elevator to store that grain and to deliver the same or better grain at the time of redemption. Thus, the elevator - not the taxpayer - would be responsible for any losses due to deterioration while in storage. However, it is important that the elevator have the grain on hand when it is supposed to have."

"The Senate has passed my amendment to require the sale of damaged grain to livestock producers in drought areas. In passing that legislation we relied on the Commodity Credit Corporation's inventory reports showing that the Commodity Credit Corporation held warehouse receipts for over 83 million bushels of damage corn in 27 states," Bentsen said.

"It is important that these Commodity Credit Corporation inventories be accurate and that this grain be available in a condition suitable for consumption by livestock," Senator Bentsen said.

Grain Sorghum Movement Slow

Austin, Oct. 20 (F-S) - Corpus Christi area grain sorghum (Counties of Live Oak, Bee, Nueces, San Patricio, and Refugio). Comments: Market activity in the area is very slow this week with grain moving at a slow pace. Lower prices this week have again dampened any inclination to sell by area farmers. The Corpus Christi Public Elevator has reopened today according to trade sources.

Prices compared to last week are 25-30 cents lower. Rains received this week have varied from light showers to drenches. Price range to the farmer FOB elevator as of 11:00 a.m. Thurs. Oct. 20 is $5.00-5.19 per cwt. #2 grain sorghum.

Central Texas Area grain sorghum: (Counties of Hill, McLennan, Falls, Bell, Milam, Williamson). Comments: Prices this week are barely steady to mostly lower compared to last Thursday. Market activity is very slow to inactive as producers have no desire to sell at the current price levels except when necessary. Some moisture has been received across the region this week but has been scattered in most areas.

Full field preparation, fertilizing, and seeding of some late winter small grains continue to keep farmers busy at this time.

Price range to the farmer FOB elevator as of 11:00 a.m. Thurs. Oct. 20 is $5.00-5.25 mostly $5.15 per cwt. #2 grain sorghum.

At birth, the hippopotamus weights about one hundred pounds.

Wool & Mohair

Denver, Oct. 20 (USDA) - Trading in domestic wool very slow as supplies are extremely scarce. Undertone is firm with sales from Utah in the past few weeks mostly 58 to 62's totaling about 1,000,000 pounds, 60's 1.35-1.40, 61's 1.45-1.50, 60's 1.60-1.70, 62's 1.80-1.90, 64's 2.20-2.25 clean basis delivered.

Australian wool markets firm as carding wools but weak on carpet varieties with the market holding down 1 point from last week or 3 points down from two weeks ago at 47¢. Next weakness coming from decreasing demand and lower quality wool with support coming from the AWC (25¢ of purchases).

Texas mohair limited to clean-up trading under very good demand to cover immediate needs. Some trading for spring delivery reported at 1¢ for adult and 7.00 for kid on 60¢ pounds for warehouse greasy basis with higher prices offered since that most growers hesitant to make commitments.

At the annual Texas Simmental convention in Kerrville, Texas in June 1983, Kendra Fields was selected as the Texas Junior Simmental Association Sweetheart. She will be representing the TJSA throughout the state during the upcoming year.

Kendra is fourteen years old and a freshman at Harper High School in Gillespie County. She is a member of the Future Farmers of America, the 4-H Club, and a twirler.

Upon completion of high school, Kendra plans to attend college and become a veterinary technician. ## What's behind the Simmental explosion?

American ingenuity develops a better breed.

You'll want to retain the Brahman strengths of adaptability, calving ease, longevity, heat and disease resistance.

Add the Simmental traits of fertility, milking ability, early sexual maturity, breeding aggressiveness, growth, muscle, feedlot efficiency and desirable carcass quality.

The result -- Simbrah. And that's why they're in demand.

Canadians Reject Ban on 1080

Washington, D.C., October 14, 1983 - In a major environmental decision, the British Columbia Ministry of Environment has rejected a plea from several anti-environment groups that Compound 1080, a toxicant used in predator control, be prohibited. Members of the National Wool Growers Association immediately viewed the action as further proof that Compound 1080 should be reappraised for use in the United States.

The decision is a line-by-line refutation of all the bogus claims that have been made by radical environmentalists in the U.S., said Dick Mudd, Chairman of the NWGA's Predator Control Committee.

The environmental laws in Canada are every bit as strict as in the U.S., NWGA Chairman of the Board Norman Rousset said, "yet even the Canadians recognize that Compound 1080 can be used safely and effectively."

The decision, handed down September 22, states in part:

In coming to this decision not to prohibit Compound 1080, the panel is of the opinion that the predator control program which has been developed by the law and wildlife branch since 1980 using Compound 1080:

1.-has been proven effective in reducing livestock losses;

2.-is well managed and carefully controlled by the Ministry of Environment officials;

3.-does resolve problem wildlife incidents in a highly selective and sight specific manner;

4.-is more economically feasible and problem-specific than other methods of predator control;

5.-is gaining the support of the livestock associations of the British Columbia Federation of Agriculture;

6.-introduces only minuscule quantities of Compound 1080 into the environment;

7.-was not found to have caused any significant adverse effects to man or the environment.

The NWGA, along with other agricultural organizations, has requested that the Environmental Protection Agency re-register Compound 1080 for a ten year ban. EPA held hearings on the incident and is expected to make a final decision shortly.

Rousset said it was time for government officials in the U.S. to stop "burying their heads in their brief cases" and get on with their responsibility of protecting livestock resources.

"Predators are more dangerous than 1080," Rousset said, "Maybe EPA ought to prohibit them."

Baton Rouge, Oct. 24 (F-S) - Auction

Commodities Comment

Week Ending Oct. 20

The October Massacre continued this week with the futures markets for metals, grains and stock market indexes experiencing sharp losses. The only markets to avoid current bloodbath has been the livestock markets and cotton. I have mentioned before held at Baton Rouge. Cattle 791. Slaughter cows steady; bulls mostly steady; feeder steers steady-1.00 higher, heifers 2.00-4.00 higher. Slaughter cows: breaking utility & commercial 2-3 33.75-37.25; boning utility 1-2 31.75-35.50; cutter 1-2 28.50-32.75; low cutter & canner 1-2 25.25-27.50. Bulls: yield grade 1 1025-1420 lbs. 40.25-45.75. Feeder steers: medium frame 1 800-400 lbs. 68.00-69.00; 400-500 lbs. 60.25-64.50. Large frame 1 & 2 800-400 lbs. 61.00-65.00; 400-500 lbs. 59.00-62.50. Heifers: medium frame 1 800-500 lbs. 51.00-55.00. Large frame 1 800-400 lbs. 52.00-54.00. Replacement and/or feeder cows: medium & large frame 1-2 cows 2-4 years old 660-1070 lbs. 38.00-45.00, many 41.00-45.00.

that October is a tough month in which to be a bull. It's not that every October is a "bear" month, it's just that when an October turns out to be bearish it's generally a real killer. Silver prices for example have lost $1.25 over the past 4 days of trading. Soybean prices fell 80 cents over the same period. Technically, there is no futures market anywhere that appears bullish. Most chart services are very bearish and market action is proving them correct. This week the bulls yelled "pant."

In recent days there is continued talk of disinflation and the growing size of the Federal Deficits. Both of these things are very bearish for all markets. Consequently, market psychology is as bearish as I've seen in at least a year. The short interest in the stock market for example, hit an all time record high. October can be a tough month on the bulls. So far this October will be remembered by the silver and soybean bulls for a long, long time. And - October isn't over yet!!!

The grain market is locked into a classical confrontation between the fundamentalist and the chartist. The chartist are still calling the grains "bear markets" with lower prices coming. If you look at the charts - you can't argue with their analysis. The fundamentalists September/November period and the ensuing bullish news from the USDA bean meal demands picks up at the time and that should be a supporting factor for bean and corn prices. All grains fell sharply this week under heavy commercial and professional selling. The grains look very tired and there aren't too many "bulls" left - at least with any money. Market psychology is very bearish and the bears are in total command. At the writing, November beans closed at $8.19, December corn at $2.87 and December wheat at $3.00 1/2.

Livestock prices have also been compared to what's going on in surrounding markets. Livestock prices pulled sharply last week and that strength carried over into Wednesday and Thursday's trade. What's most interesting about livestock prices is the fact they are acting "bullish" in spite of huge slaughter (888 on Thursday in hogs), and declining grain prices. Feeder cattle futures have actually "popped" the way up for the livestock complex. That certainly had to be a surprise!

On Wednesday the live cattle and feeder cattle literally erupted upwards in price. The feeders closed at $1.50 (limit up) and the live cattle as much as $1.05 higher for the day. The quality of the buying was not that impressive, but the result is the same - sharply higher. The pork complex continued to be a drag on cattle prices. Heavy slaughter of hogs is trying to put a damper on this two week rally. At this writing, February cattle closed at $9.97, February hogs at $6.70, and February bellies at $6.75.

Which way from here? I'm still friendly to grains. The charts look terrible and prices continue to decline in the face of bullish news. Nearly everyone is bearish and they've been right - so far. I'll stick with the old side. Buy the breaks, but don't marry your position - use money management stops.

I'm going to be a bull for cattle for the balance of 1983, and into 1984. I've been bearish since spring, but over the past several weeks turned bullish. I'm not less than enthusiastic for pork prices, but cattle prices appear headed higher. The cattle market has shrugged off all the negative news and the "bear" call monster and prices are great. The February cattle option should work higher into 1984. Treat this market as trading affair. In other words, don't chase the market, but buy the $1.00 breaks. February futures should be excellent support just under the $9.00 level. Let's hope that the cattle market will be "the" bull market of 1984. For about $80-90 cattle by late 1984 or 1985. Just remember, that in commodity trading all things are possible. Jerry Welch, Commodity Specialist, Private Mail Box Security, 221 S. Bendish, Suite 1400, Clayton, Mo. 63105.

Dr. Milton and Susan Graham, owners of Skyview Ranch, have set Saturday, October 29, 1983 at 1:00 p.m. as the date and time of their first production sale. The Graham's will sell approximately 110 head of outstanding quality Pinzgauer cattle. All cattle have been blood tested, inspected for health status, and tag numbers, and grub treated and sprayed. The sale cattle will be deep in major Pinzgauer blood lines, including Charlie Brown and Kount, who was the 1982 SWPA champion and the 1983 National Reserve champion. Skyview Ranch has developed this outstanding Pinzgauer herd through the purchase of top females at national sales, by purchasing a select herd in 1979, and by a very selective breeding program. The Graham's have actively supported the Pinzgauer cattle breed through attendance at national and local sales and meetings. Also, Susan served for four years as secretary-treasurer of the SWPA. Skyview will maintain a quality fullblood herd along with their wheat and stocker operation.

Drawing To Be Held At Pinzgauer Fun Day November 5 In Canton

High Point Ranch, New Boston, Texas, will sponsor a drawing to be held at the SWPA Fun Day at Canton, Texas on November 5, 1983. The door prize will be given to one member or guest. A second door prize will be awarded to a member who has paid higher 1984 dues or who is a life member. The fun day includes a visitation and general membership meeting, and is a time to visit with members of the Southwest Pinzgauer Association and Pinzgauer breeders. The meeting will be at the Womens Building, Canton Fairgrounds, Canton, Texas.

Several Pinzgauer cattle were exhibited at the Four States Fair held at Texarkana, Texas. In the predominantly Brahman exhibit, the colorful "White Tails" formed a marked contrast. Pinzgauers exhibited by High Point Ranch stopped a great deal of traffic flowing through the barn. 1983 National Reserve Champion bull, Kount, became the center of attention as the notable petting bull.

In a demonstration of the docility of the Pinzgauer breed, herdsmen David Box and Jessie Thrapp carefully supervised the petting by the children. The smaller children sat astride Kount's obliging back, leaving a lasting impression on the participants, their parents, and the spectators.

Today's Cattleman needs productivity and performance he can bank on... the proven, predictable performance of the Pinzgauer. As productive as they are colorful, count on Pinzgauer if you're looking for cattle that can produce a profit in today's market.

Final Plans Set For Fall All Breeds Bull Sale in Sealy
Final plans have been set for the Gulf Coast All Breeds Fall Bull Sale to be held at the Port City Stockyards in Sealy, Texas on October 29, 1983 at 1:00 P.M. Over 85 breeders of purebred cattle have consigned 160 bulls, representing 14 different breeds, to the sale.
These bulls will be arriving at Port City Stockyards on Thursday evening, October 27th. On Friday, October 28th, at 1:00 PM, the bulls will be graded using the OBGA Grading system that was used at our spring bull sale. The judges for this sale will include cattlemen, cattle breeders, and livestock specialists. The bulls must score at least 80.0 from a possible 100 to sell in the sale on Saturday. The public is welcome to attend the grading on Friday.
Sales manager, John Joyce, states "The success of our spring graded bull sale warranted a sale in the fall. Many commercial cattlemen in the Gulf Coast area put their bulls out on December 1st for breeding. Therefore, a fall bull sale such as this will give the cattlemen in our area a selection of bulls.
All bulls consigned to this sale will be fertility tested and guaranteed by the individual consignors. The bulls will have a test for tuberculosis and brucellosis and will be ready for shipment to any point in Texas.
Sale headquarters is the Countryside Hotel in Sealy, Texas located on TX 10 and Highway 36 (409/885-7487). For further information and catalogs contact World Sales, John Joyce, 1107 Cottondale Road, Wharton, TX 77488, AC 409/657-2212 or AC 718/842-2035 (Houston number).

Don Butler, chairman of the U.S. Meat Export Federation; Jim Mullins, chairman of the National Live Stock and Meat Board; and W. J. Waldrup, president of the National Cattlemen's Association, will make up the panel. They will address the topic, "Strategies for Cattlemen in the '80s." Dr. L. S. "The industry's nationwide product promotion campaign, the government's farm programs, the dairy diversion program and other current issues will be discussed during the informative panel session."

Also on the convention program are TCFA President Charlie Koontz who is general manager of Otton Feedyards. He will update convention registrants on 1983 TCFA activities and address what can be expected in 1984.
